

Love Prevails

When I use my greatest strength all of my heart
to push the darkness away triumph is sweet

When I feel the pain searing hot, but no longer deadly wounds disappear
and healing endures

When the joy stands free and the chains fall away the sky itself too small to contain it the world brightens

When my mind clears
and the fear retreats
the present leaps into focus and the truth is revealed

When I am with you
life stretching before us filled with new hope
love prevails.

MDW 8/98
For Marilyn